

PARENT FORUM 11 06 21

Year 13 Mass today – they have done very well. Final Offers from the Universities coming through.

Year 11 Mass of Transition next Friday.

CAGs are being uploaded today.

AP2 examinations next week.

We are visiting the Primaries presently also so it is a busy week.

Detention emails further information on these. All information on behaviour, achievement points and detentions is available to view on Go 4 Schools.

Been working on the culture and enrichment week at the end of term. Any events locally or activities please let us know.

Thanks received from parents for the support of the students – particularly one parent whose daughter is now going to Warwick University.

In order for students to move up core subject classes, they need to provide their tutors with evidence of increase of grades being made. Interventions are in place after school to assist students. If the grades are not being achieved that students would like, please raise this with the relevant tutor to obtain extra resources and revision techniques etc.

Second week of September all Year 11 parents/carers will be met with to discuss the results of the exams that they will be sitting next week. We review all the results, look at the gaps and the classes as a whole.

Year 12 need to achieve at least a D grade in order to progress into Year 13.
